THE FIRE TUBE

it for the inspection of fire tubes - the first of its kind. Our sensors and magnets are curved specifically to the inside of a fire tube, allowing us to efficiently determine the levels of corrosion and areas of weakness.

e inspection readings are instant and require zero down time or loss of production. The spection tool has the capability to scan both vertical and horizontal heater freaters. This cludes various diameters of fire tubes.

We have scanned over 25,000 fire tubes and prevented hundreds of spills each year. We have office locations in North Dakota, Texas and Montana. Also servicing many other states such as New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Oklahoma and Utah.

"I was one of the first Bakken oil producers to utilize Elite's fire tube scanning technology. The Elite scanning system saved me hundreds of thousands of dollars. My preventative maintenance costs have been specificated by the scanning system saved the scanning system saved the scanning system. significantly reduced because I do not need to pull a fire tube until it is time to be replaced - no more guessing.

The largest cost savings is in my spill cleanup budget. I have not had to clean up a spill from a fire tube failure since I started using their testing services."

-Local production foreman, Bakken.
